EY WARREN SUMNER BARLOW. Father of love and light, My heart with sweet delight Looks up to thee. Thy attributes I trace In every form and place, In all I see.

Through every clime and age, Is written on each page Thy changeless plan; Thy purposes divine I read in every line, "Good will to man."

What though my bark of life Is borne on waves of strife, I have no fears: They nerve my dormant powers To brave the darkest hours. Till light appears.

Though bitter dregs I sup, From deep affliction's cup, Thy f ce I see; Tho earth is dark and drear, I come through sorrow's tear Nearer to thee.

Thy stern, chast'ning hand In love was kindly p anned For my best good; It ever points the way, Whene'er I go astray, If understood.

Then I will not repine, But feel thy love doth shine Through good and ill; And see in every tear, As in the sunlit cheer, Thy holy will.

While time's last embers burn, And from the broken urn I take my flight, New scenes will charm the soul, As tireless ages roll, With fadeless light.

The most dangerous affections of the Pulmonary Organs yield to its power; and cases of Consumption, cured by this preparation, are publicly known, so remarkable as hardly to be believed, were they not proven beyond dispute. Age does not impair them: their sugar-conting and being enclosed in class bottles preserve their virtues unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always firsh and reliable, which is not the case with the pills found in the drug stores, patup in cheap wood or paste-board boxes. once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. It soon restores faded or gray hair to its original youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed; but such as remain can be saved by this application, and stimulated into activity, so that a new growth of hair is produced. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will present the bair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. The restoration of vitality it gives to the scalp arrests and prevents the formation of dandruff, which is often so uncleanly and offensive. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous, and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit, but not harm it. If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre, and a grateful perfume.
